The architect selected King Klinker America's Black Beauty thin brick in Imperial Size, arranged vertically, to create a striking and contemporary aesthetic for this remarkable structure. This design decision not only captures attention but also imparts a modern appeal. The Kler project, spanning an exhibition area of 1/2 acre, was executed under challenging conditions and unfavorable circumstances. Despite the pandemic slowing progress, construction remained uninterrupted. Over a continuous 12-month period, the new Kler Salon in Katowice was built, showcasing unambiguous, intense, and distinctive architecture.

Today, Kler's stunning and expansive interiors are a testament to innovative design and resilient execution, presenting new opportunities in a fresh, captivating space.
